Seifert Wants Commitment On Proposed Computer, Master Plans

Extra Effort

A local resident strains to "feed the meter" in the Park St. Village parking lot. As a result of town plowing efforts after recent snowstorms, many meters are surrounded by large snowbanks, making them difficult to reach, but still a mandatory task. Failure to pay 'dues' will still result in a ticket even though extra effort is required.

By Karen L. Day

A commitment to implementation of the proposed computer and master plans for the Andover schools was requested by Superintendent Kenneth Seifert at the meeting of the School Committee Tuesday evening.

Beginning the discussion concentrating on the computer plan, Seifert commented that the Andover schools are in the position of having to play catch-up at this point, and that the computer plan would have to include staff development, curriculum development, hardware and software. He made it clear that he was not suggesting that it was an all or nothing situation before turning the presentation over to Assistant Superintendent/Elementary Lois Haslam.

Haslam explained that first year computer plan goals on the elementary level were to teach all students basic computer operation and keyboarding and to teach third graders LOGO, a computer language.

Bancroft teacher Dot Pelc commented that although a lack of equipment has kept the program from including all students, "exciting things are happening."

Charlotte Lynch, a teacher at West Elementary, introduced Craig Black, Steve McNulty and Michael Wu, three of the school's students, who presented "Hearoid," a computerized robot purchased by the West Parent/Teacher organization.

Assistant Superintendent/Secondary Leslie Loomis expressed a difference between programs at the elementary level, which are uniform, and those at the secondary level. Loomis feels that programs at the junior high school should concentrate on competency and those at the high school should be on an elective basis—once every one is "caught-up" on basic skills.

John Givens, a junior high teacher, explained that in the seventh grade, students should have a keyboarding course and in the eighth grade concentrate on applications. This would include word processing, spread sheets, data base, telecommunications and an introduction to BASIC, a universal computer language. In the ninth grade, students would concentrate on word processing, tying together computer technology and writing.

Andover High teacher Ted Johnson commented that an Information Science Department is necessary and that computers could tie into other programs when used as a problem-solving tool.

Seifert added that the administration could go no further in the planning process until the committee decides on the amount of funding to be given the plan.

Committeeman Donald Robb stated that there are several ways in which one could go about funding the program: all in one year, a several year phase-in, or by bonding.

Finance Committee member Joanne Marden explained that no matter how it was organized, the money would have to come out of the budget one way or the other, and suggested that the committee begin to decide where they would cut their budget in order to fund the pro-

Town House Topics

Research Park Site Plans Approved

Last Tuesday night, the Planning Board unanimously voted to send its approval to the building inspector of site plans for a new building planned by Andover Research Park. The two-story office and/or research building is planned for a parcel in an industrial park location on Riverside Drive, off River Road.

Also approved were modified site plans for an addition to the law offices of Reginald Marden. The permissibility of the addition had been debated before the board because Marden had signed a covenent with the town, when the Central Street property was rezoned General Business in 1979, that stipulated that the exterior of the historic building—known as the Jonathan Swift house—remain true to its original style. Marden's design for the addition was approved by both the Historical Society and the town's Design Advisory Group, and will be subject to the D.A.G.'s recommendations.

The board denied approval, unanimously, to preliminary plans for "Pine Woods," a nine-lot subdivision proposed for a location off Jenkins Road. The denial was based upon a number of planning concerns, chief of which was a lack of adequate fire protection for the area.

The board then approved definitive plans for "Great Heron Place," a three-lot subdivision off Orchard Street. The approval is tied to 25 conditions, which must be met by developers before building can begin.

Finally, board members unanimously agreed to grant a six-month extension in the time allowed to refile plans to developers of "Fieldstone Acres," a 52-lot subdivision planned for a site off Dascomb Road. Preliminary plans for the development had been disapproved because of sewer problems that would have required the installation of a pumping system; the developers are now working with the town to seek gravity-feed lines to the area.

Government Facilities Film On Cable

The Cable Advisory Committee has announced that Town of Andover Government Facilities, a locally-made film that offers viewers a 10-minute tour of many of the town's public buildings and facilities, will debut on cable channel 11 today.

The film was prepared by the Town of Andover in cooperation with Heritage Communications and Merrimack College student Kelly Gallo, and has been dedicated to the late Selectman Donn Byrne for his years of service and dedication to the town.

The following viewing times are scheduled.:

Feb. 5 — 6:30 p.m.
Feb. 6 — 9:30 a.m.
Feb. 9 — 7:15 p.m.
Feb. 11 — 5:30 p.m.
Feb. 13 — 4:30 p.m.

Plaque To Honor Officers

Last Monday, the Board of Selectmen cast a unanimous vote to dedicate a plaque to town police officers and firefighters who perform acts worthy of special commendation. The plaque, which will be hung in the corridor near the main entrance to the Town Offices on Bartlet Street, will be engraved with the names of those who are honored by the board for their actions.

The board also voted to ask the police and fire chiefs for the names of those active duty members of the forces who have, in the past, received special commendations from the selectmen; their names will also be engraved on the plaque.

Over 500 Register For Classes

Department of Community Services held its winter/spring registration last week. More than 500 people registered for recreational, social, cultural and educational courses.

Some of the more popular classes included tennis, children's gymnastics, quilting, German conversation, wreath workshops, children's art, investing, parenting courses, hors de'oeuvre workshops and computer classes.

Persons with a talent who would like to share a new class idea should contact Marcy Donohue or Peg Alexander at the DCS office in Town Office Building, Bartlet Street.

Some of the early lighting devices to be discussed in coffee-lecture at Andover Historical Society.

Early Lighting To Be Topic

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Winter is a good time to look for diversions close to home and Andover residents need look no further than the Andover Historical Society for something interesting to do this month.

The society will host a morning coffee at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 10. A talk on early American lighting devices will be featured.

Ruth Sherwood, an expert on early American lighting, will speak about "Dark Days of Winter" and how people lit their homes before electricity. She will discuss everything from candles to whale oil and will illustrate her talk with examples from the society's large collection of lighting devices, as well as some of her own.

The snow date is February 17. There is no admission charge. Morning coffees are another way the society encourages interested individuals to become members.

The Andover Historical Society is also offering its popular eight-week seminar on genealogical research methods, led by Gratia Mahony, a professional genealogist.

Held on Wednesdays at 7 p.m., beginning February 11, the workshops will be individualized to aid participants.

Not just for Mayflower descendants, the seminar is designed to help anyone research his family history regardless of when they came to this country.

Both amateurs and advanced genealogists are welcome.

Cambridge's John Ross will teach a hands-on woodworking course in the society's barn museum on Saturdays this month from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., beginning February 7. Students will choose a project according to their level of ability and Ross will guide them in their use of antique tools.

Ross has taught this course previously at the Andover Historical Society and the Peabody Museum in Salem. Participation is limited and on a first-come basis.

Registration for the genealogical seminar and woodworking workshop may be made by calling the society's office.

The Andover Historical Society, accredited by the American Association of Museums, is a nonprofit, educational institution open to members and the public. For information on open hours exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, all the society office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The oldest known map, a small clay tablet from Babylonia dating back to about 2300 B.C., most likely depicts an estate in a mountain-lined valley.

Series Continues

The Potpourri Film Series will feature the concluding Part V of "The Backyard Gardener" during the week of February 9-12 at the following times: Monday at 10 a.m., Tuesday at 2 p.m., Wednesday at 4 p.m. and Thursday at 7 p.m.

The Andover Cable Advisory Committee sponsors a weekly 30-minute film on the Andover Public Access Channel 11 at the times listed above.

"The Backyard Gardener" describes the planning of a home garden, preparing the soil, cultivation and caring of vegetables and flowers.

MARITAL DIFFICULTIES OF SENIOR CITIZENS

Marital relations among senior citizens center around very different life problems. Perhaps the most important of these is health. Health can dictate the shifts in the relationship that concern power, dependency, support, physical and mental health. Often the spouse with the most health is the spouse with the most power.

On Tuesday, February 10, 1987, at 7:30 P.M. Dr. Leon Somers will conduct a seminar in which he will discuss the issues that senior citizens may face in their marital relationships.

The seminar is offered free to the public and will take place at the offices of The Somers Trust Psychological Associates located at 789 Turnpike Street (The Willows Professional Park) (Route 114) in North Andover, MA. Seating is limited, so those interested should call to make a reservation at688-8004 .

Jazz Group To Compete In Festival

The Andover High School Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of Marc Keroack of Melrose, has registered to participate in the 19th Annual Jazz Ensemble Festival at Berklee College of Music, Boston, on Saturday, Feb. 28.

The festival, which has provided a showcase for thousands of student musicians and educators from the United States and Canada in the past 14 years, offers a competitive forum for participating ensembles and a detailed evaluation of each performance by a select group of noted professional adjudicators. Many members of Berklee's internationally-renowned faculty will conduct the festival's multitude of clinics and workshops and evaluate the student ensembles.

The day's events will culminate at the Berklee Performance Center in an evening concert/competition among the finalist vying for best and trophies, citation plaques and tuition scholarships amounting to $50,000. The awards will be presented by Berklee Dean of Students Lawrence Bethune.

Would you trust this man with your life's savings?

When you want a car, go to the dealer. But when you need a loan to pay for it, come to Wakefield Savings.

Of course, you could choose that low dealer financing you've heard so much about. But you'll probably find that in exchange for a low interest rate, you're sacrificing your ability to negotiate on the price of the car – and in the long run, that could cost you more.

Right now Wakefield Savings is offering 48-month new car loans with an Annual Percentage Rate of 9.5%. And since we're a bank, we've been helping people with their financing needs for years and years.

So for the best deal on a new car, negotiate your best price with the dealer. Then visit Wakefield Savings for the financing. Because when it comes to a loan, you're always safer working with an expert.

The Birth of a Nation

Thursday, fifth graders at the Bancroft School relived the formative days of our nation by presenting a series of four skits—complete with costumes and scenery changes.

A Definite Highlight Of The Year

By Matt Alden
Andover High School

Tuesday, the 27th of this dismal month of January, Andover High School blossomed with the bright and cheerful colors of 103 Hawaiian leis. The leis worn by the staff and colorful surfwear donned by several students represented the Hawaiian theme of this second annual Staff Appreciation Day.

Organized and sponsored by the Parent Advisory Council and assisted by student government members and other students, this day achieved its purpose in full. Andover High's entire staff was served a special breakfast before school and later given "an elegant lunch," Mrs. Frieze, counselor, stated. A warm and positive ambiance settled upon the entire school as the staff was recognized for their often unsung efforts.

Many of the high school community offered very supportive and enthusiastic comments about this special day. "It provides a stronger sense of community, helps to uphold our job satisfaction and makes one feel better about being a teacher," explained Mr. Wettergreen, English teacher. Many teachers indicated that this year was even more successful than last.

Before the first staff appreciation day, the lack of teacher morale was a concern of the administration and many students. Assistant Principal Stephen Richardson commented, "The staff enjoyed being honored for their efforts...It has shown a definite plus in teacher morale as a vast majority participated."

An especially important gesture on the students' behalf was the sending of notes to teachers who had helped them in some way or had just been a good teacher and friend throughout the first semester. "It contributes to my rapport with students who took the time to write notes...this type of event has a long-term impact; the fact that students are recognizing teachers' efforts sets a pattern for students to compliment them on a regular basis...It's an ice braker," Wettergreen said.

"I feel that it is very easy to work knowing that you're appreciated," Mrs. Frieze remarked. Throughout the day, the staff seemed very content and pleased. "The staff is very

Historic Site Threatened by Condo Development

Picwel Builders has applied for a "Comprehensive Permit" to build 70 condominiums on the nine-acre site on Andover Street adjacent to the old Sid White house and duckpond—and to turn the Sid White house into a condominium unit. Less than a third of these units would be reserved for low and moderate income housing. At the time the Sid White house and property were sold, a preservation agreement was executed to protect the integrity of the property. It was endorsed by the Andover Selectmen, Andover Historical Commission and the Massachusetts Historical Commission. Despite this, the developer intends to use the State Comprehensive Permit Law to bypass the intent of the preservation agreement and to include the property within this high density development.

Doherty Athletes Honored

By Michael Clement and Marci Schwartz

A banquet was recently held in honor of those athletes who participated in sports at Doherty Junior High School. Awards were given to the people who played field hockey, soccer and football. Best defensive player in field hockey was Andrea Napolitano; best offensive players were Liz Shea, Lisa Campbell, Carolyn Oskar and Kelly Moynihan; best middle fielder was Erin Sullivan and most valuable player was Danielle Costanzo. The field hockey team was coached by Richard Stevens.

In girls' soccer, coached by Karl Lippmann, the following awards were presented: Best Forward, Suzanne Gianelly; Best Halfback, Jodi Saunders; Best Defensive Players, Jennifer Butt and Nicole Ricci; Coach's Award, Erin Lynch. In boys' soccer, coached by Charles Labelle, awards were presented to Best Defensive Player, Chuck Jessico; Most Valuable Player, Matt McVicar; Most Improved Player, Adam Clark; Coach's Award, Andy Watt.

In football, coached by James Hurley, awards went to Glenn Driscoll, Best Offensive Player; Sean Finneran, Best Defensive Player; Mike Lastrna, Best Lineman; Most Improved Player, Patrick Finn.

Special awards were given to students who have maintained honor roll status while playing a sport: Andy Frankenberger, Chad Gomes, Melissa Salazar and Alexis Scott.

The eight grade winter clothing drive began January 26 and many students have responded to the needs of the poor by bringing in warm clothing. All clothing will be donated to Lazarus House. The drive ends February 6.

The debating team, one of Doherty's academic clubs, has been working on a long-term project. There will be a debate in the Doherty auditorium on March 13 between the half of the team that supports nuclear power and the other half which opposes it. Seventh and eighth graders will attend at different times. Each student will be given an evaluation sheet to judge each team. Members of the team have been researching nuclear power, developing the art of speaking and preparing their information since October. A meeting is held almost every Thursday. Students on the team, which is coached by Patrick Finnigan and Louis Eiserman, include Jennifer Ashlock, Tyrin Avery, Kurt Ballou, Michael Bor, Michael Clement, Joseph Gillam, Jamie Gruener, Kim Hall, Krista Laroie, Jennifer Lewis, Eric Milne, Kathleen O'Brien, Alaina Scheroder, Eric Scapfer and Gordana Willner.

aware of how much work goes into making them feel special," she later stated.

Jeff Hart, senior student government representative, had some thoughts on the day. "The staff really seemed to enjoy themselves and appreciated the efforts made on their behalf by several students...Most of my teachers were in good moods and really enthusiastic."

It would be great to see this type of occasion evolve into an annual tradition. Richardson feels that this type of goal has definite value especially when considering the staff's reactions. "This is wonderful. My only regret is that this didn't start 30 years ago when I began teaching," commented Richard Collins, history teacher and football and track coach.

Many staff members gave an overwhelming amount of positive feedback. Peter Prince, French teacher, summed the day up best. "I looked forward to it. The dignity with which it was done was absolutely awesome...Thanks a million times over!"

And They're Off!!

The Boy Scouts of St. Augustine's Church recently held their annual Pinewood Derby with more than 60 entrants racing home-built cars. With parents cheering as loudly as their scouts, boys placed their cars on the starting ramp and then moved to the end of the track to view the finish as their cars sped through the arch. Pictured top row, left to right: Chris Rolfes carefully places his car on the track while race-starter Raymond Lasonde looks on; Todd Buonopane, Michael Perkins, Brian Carpenter and David Taylor anxiously watch the start of one heat; Raymond Lasonde shows Brendan Kelly where to place his car while Andy Parker and Adam Tripi await the beginning of the race; Brian Sweet and Anthony Mitchell watch as their cars speed by. Second row, left to right: As one car zooms through the finish line, another trails behind; Scoutmaster Richard Cookson and Richard Landry try to repair the track while racers become restless; Another delay took place when the release mechanism jammed, and Andy Parker and Raymond Lasonde try to analyze the problem. Third row, left to right: Anthony Montalbano and Andy Houston watch to see which car will take and early lead; Ryan Sullivan, Anthony Mitchell and Severen de Valence place their cars as the starting line; Three youngsters amuse themselves with a book while waiting for the track to be repaired and the racing resumed; two cars cross the finish line in one of the day's closest heats.

Math Team Places Third

By Ben Spieler

The Doherty Junior High School math team finished a strong third in their recent competition at Westford. This was the third meet in this year's round of competitions in the Intermediate Math League of Massachusetts. Totaling 11 points, they were one point behind Chelmsford and 16 in back of Andover West Junior High School, winner for the second time in three meets. Leading Doherty were Jeff Johnson and Mike Robinson who once again had 18 points each—perfect scores. Seventh grader Petr Tavernin led the alternates with 17 points.

Members and coaches of the math team are preparing for the next competition on February 26 which will be held at Doherty Junior High School. They are working individually and in small groups in planned and focused team practices.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

When an infant is in is crib, be sure that the sides of the crib are up and fastened to prevent the baby from falling out. Once the baby is able to climb out, attach extensions to the crib sides that are high enough to make climbing out impossible. Be sure that the bars of the crib are close enough together so that the baby cannot force his head or chest through the openings. The space between the slats should be no more than 3½ inches. And do not leave loose pillows in the cribs of young infants.

Western Roundup

By Carrie Lumley

Many novel and exciting events have taken place at Andover West Junor High School. For instance, three weeks go, John David Bartoe, an astronaut from NASA, attended our school to share his experiences on the space shuttle Challenger. Prior to his speech and slide show, members of the staff, student council and four students from the biology class greeted him with a warm welcome and a few questions of interest. The biology and geometry classes joined Dr. Bartoe for lunch. It was a hectic, yet enjoyable day for all.

As far as student government is concerned, a great deal of activities have been taking place. The second student activity night occured on January 16. Many students feel this source of entertainment is better than a dance due to its originality and flexability of what you wish to do, such as volleyball, handball, floor hockey, ping pong, watch a movie, dance or just sit, listening to music and drinking a coke. A Hawaiin beach party dance was supposed to be held January 23, but, due to the canceling of school, it is rescheduled for February 6 at 7 p.m. Carnations of three different colors, each having a different meaning, are being sold by student government for Valentine's Day.

Meanwhile, the girls basketball team is having a very productive year. This can be shown by their record of 10-3. The team is captained by Mary Kinnon, Kara Slavin and Michelle DiStephano with help from their coaches, Mr. Gangi and Mr. Darren. Slavin holds the position of high scorer this year and is only about 17 points behind the high scoring record.

Paul Lembo, John Thompson and Chris Eggert are the captains of the boys basketball team. With a present record of 10-3 they are not far behind the undefeated Central Catholic team. All of the players and students of West Junior High were singing their glory songs when we beat East Junior High School, the biggest triumph of the season.

The yearbook staff is working steadily and making great progress, especially in the areas of layout and prophecy. The layout consists of collages full of candid pictures of students at various school functions. The prophecy is a main portion of the yearbook which includes all the ninth graders names in a story that forsees the class 20 years from now. Another item that is near completion is the superlatives, a couple of pages with students' pictures who have been chosen as "most likely to succeed," "class flirt," "cutest," etc.

The full name of Mexico's resort city on the Pacific is Acapulco de Juarez.

West Leads Competition In Math

The Atlantic-Pacific Mathematics League is a new series of contests West Junior High School entered this year. Although designated for students in grades 6 to 9, West joined with the idea of involving grades 8 and 9 only. Schools in this league are from all over the country and across Canada.

Students will participate in all six contests scheduled from November to April. Each contest consists of six problems, with 30 minutes allowed. The subject matter from which the problems are drawn includes all areas of the mathematical curriculum for grades 6 to 9, including the first year of algebra. The team's score is the total of scores of the 10 highest scoring students for that contest.

After the first two contests, West Junior High School is first in New England. Eighth graders Mark Liffman, Sanjiv Sheel and Jennifer Wu are all tied for first place.

At the culmination of the contests, plaques will be awarded to the highest scoring in each division. There will be book awards to the members of the five highest scoring teams in the overall league standings. Book awards will also be made to individuals with the highest scores for the six contests by grade level. For all schools participating in three or more contests, a book award will be made to the team's most valuable member.

Phillips Symposium Opens With Lecture And Film

Phillips Academy's 1987 Headmaster's Symposium "Communities in Transition: Africa Faces the Future" opens with a panel lecture on Wednesday, Feb. 11, and a film on Friday, Feb. 13. Both events begin at 6:45 p.m. and are free and open to the public.

The opening ceremonies on Wednesday will feature a panel by Mamadou Diop, mayor of Dakar, Senegal, and Sally Johnson of the Chicago mayor's office on "Contemporary Communities in Africa" in Kemper Auditorium. Both have been largely responsible for not only coordinating a sister city relationship between Chicago and Dakar, but also for creating the Harold Washington Maternity Center in Dakar, named for Chicago's mayor, one of the most recent significant additions to modern medical facilities in West Africa. Diop was also host to 22 Phillips Academy students over Christmas as they helped begin a five-year resotration project at the Leopold Angrand Elementary School on Goree Island.

Selections from "The Africans," aired this past fall on PBS, will be presented on Friday. The program attracted critical acclaim for the views it presented on the recent evolution of modern Africa and widespread criticism for its anti-western flavor; one major critic was the National Endowment of Humanities, a sponsor of the series. The series' producer and creator, Ali Mazrui, a native Kenyan and professor of political science at the universities of Michigan and Jos, Nigeria, will lecture for the symposium on Thursday, Feb. 26.

Vaudeville Show At Center

True Romance will come to the Andover Senior Center on Wednesday, Feb. 11. True Romance is the vaudevillian journey of Sal and Mare (alias Jones and Campbell) from housewives hanging out their laundry to jilted VonBulow sweethearts.

Through slapstick, melodrama and tales of True Romance, Sal and Mare discover the romance in their own lives and how to track it down.

Or maybe they discover that True Romance is rally coffee in the backyard where they can yearn to be whoever they dare. Of course, half the fun is duking it out to see who gets to play the best part.

This program is made possible with a grant from the Andover Arts Lottery. Admission is free, however, pick up tickets at the senior center before the performance as space is limited.

Development Consultant Speaker For Montessori Group

Nancy Richard, a nationally known consultant for the Gesell Institute of Human Development, will speak at the Andover School of Montessori on Thursday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p.m. on the stages of development from early childhood through the teenage years.

ASM recognizes the need in the community for teachers and parents to be more aware of the child's school readiness. Parents and childen go through a lot of unnecessary distress and anxiety when it's time to make decisions about entering first grade. Parents are under a lot of social pressure at this time and, due to a lack of knowledge and understanding of the pre-school screening process, are sometimes more concerned about the child "making the grade" rather than if the child is ready. They are not aware that it's more important to be concerned with the child's individual biological timetable and what is best for that child rather than whether or not the child is going into the same grade as their friend. Because of this lack of understanding children are often placed in first grade. This overplacing imposes pressures which inhibit the child's social growth, physical well being, emotional stability or academic learning. Whenever there is undue pressure, something has to give.

Parents and teachers want children to have a successful school experience. This can only be acheived when children are placed in environment they can cope with school physically, socially and emotionally as well as academically. Children need an environment where they can learn with enough spirit and energy left over to allow them to develop into a well integrated person.

Swimming Program Planned

An opportunity for non-swimmer or beginner swimmers to get in the swim is being provided by the Andover-North Andvoer YMCA, Merri-Lee Kline, assistant aquatic director, has announced.

Youngsters between the ages of four and 12 can learn the basics of swimming in the Y's four-day "Learn to Swim" program during February School Vacation Week. Classes for children ages 4-6 will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. or 10:15 a.m. to 11 a.m. and for ages 7-12 from 1 p.m. to 1:45 p.m. or 1:45 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. February 17-20. This program is open to boys and girls who are non-members.

"The YMCA program gets non-swimmers started on the right foot by providing the most up-to-date teaching methods available," Kline said. "The children won't be expert swimmers by the end of the week, but they will know the fundamentals and, in the progress, they will discover what fun swimming can be."

For more information, contact the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Red Cross Urges Safety

February 8-14 is National Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week. The Greater Lawrence Chapter of the American Red Cross is asking parents to make a special effort to buckle up their children.

Every year in Massachusetts, hundreds of children are seriously injured or killed in motor vehicle accidents. Of the survivors, many are crippled for life by spinal cord injuries, brain damage or other traumatic injuries. Most of these deaths and injuries could be prevented simpy by using car seats and safety belts.

The Child Passenger Safety Law, in effect since 1982, requires all children under five years to be fastened in a properly adjusted car seat or seat belt. However, some parents find the cost of safety seats too burdensome and their children ride unrestrained.

To remove the financial barrier, the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the American Red Cross sponsors an infant car seat program for all residents of the Greater Lawrence community. Cost for the eight-month rental period is refunded when the seat is returned in good condition. To inquire about the rental program, call the Red Cross.

Andover Artist Exhibits

The Winfisky Gallery at Salem State College will present an oil painting exhibit entitled "Progression Toward Abstraction" by Ellen Yetvin of Andover through February 20. Gallery hours are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays, 12 p.m. to 10 p.m. weekends. A reception will be held February 8 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is free.

In "Progression Toward Abstraction" the artist seeks to tap an inner force within the artistic process—a pulse beat, a certain rhythm which is representative of the emotional energy shared by humankind. Using organic forms and vibrant color, each work searches for the mysteries of our inner nature.

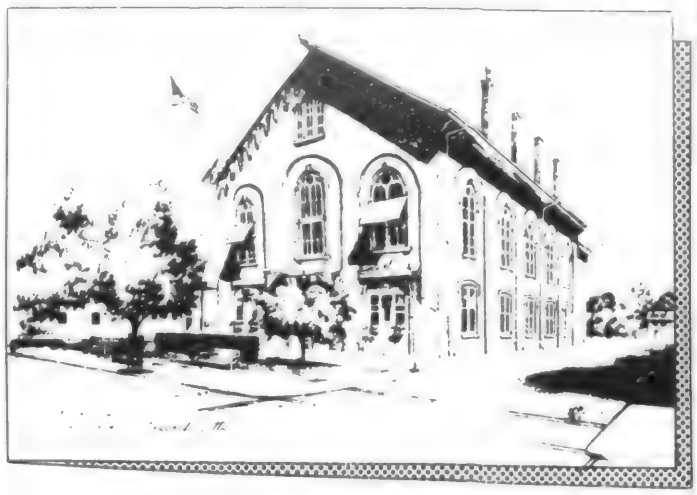

In ancient times, people made bracelets of malachite, a green copper ore, because they thought it provided protection against disease, lightning and withcraft.

Flor Arguedas

High School Welcomes AFS Teacher

The American Field Service Club of Andover has begun a new foreign exchange program.

Flor Arguedas of Costa Rica has arrived and will be teaching Spanish at Andover High School for six months. This is the first time the Andover club has become involved in the adult cultural exchange and she is looking forward to the experience.

Arguedas comes from Heredia, Costa Rica, a large town about 20 miles from San Jose, the capitol. While in Andover, she will stay with Robert and Cynthia Genier of Kathleen Drive. As part of this program, Arguedas will also be available to classes at other schools for lectures about her country. Community groups and interested people wishing to meet her may do so by contacting the high school.

The AFS club is looking for one more host family for next year. This year the Larry Larsons are hosting Ilavia Zucchini of Italy and the Allen Maxwells are hosting Miho Shinei of Japan. Both girls are students at Andover High School and will be in Andover for the school year. This is a wonderful opportunity for a family to learn about another culture while sharing its own way of life with a foreign stuent. The hosting arrangement may by worked out for half a year if this is more feasible. Interested families may call Marsha Johnson, host family chairperson, on Summer Street.

Chamber Orchestra Concert At Academy

The music department of Phillips Academy will present a concert by the Academy Chamber Orchestra in Cochran Chapel on Saturday, Feb. 14, at 8 p.m.

The program will feature Antonio Vivaldi's "Concertos of the Seasons," a cycle of four concerti for solo violin first published in 1725. The composer introduced into this formal solo concerto form a descriptive program. Renato Fasano writes, "The construction of the works, in its rhythmic and dynamic elements, in its sound plans, in its exploitation of instrumental resources, seems of surprising modernity." Individually, of course, four seasons are spring, summer, autumn and winter.

Violin soloists will be: Philip Chung '88, a third-year student from Freeport, Ill., spring; Guenter Meyer '88, from Demarest, N.H., summer; Tanja Aalto '88 from Helsinki, Finland, where her father is in the diplomatic service, autumn; Benjamin Shin '89 from Columbia, S.C., winter.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Conservation League Visiting

Many Andover residents are presently answering a knock or ring at the door to find a person talking about acid rain, toxic waste and clean water legislation.

These visitors are representatives of the League of Conservation Voters (LCV), a national, non-partisan political committee that works to elect environmental leaders to public office.

"The league fills a unique niche in the conservation movement, " says New England LCV political director, Sandra Ledbetter. "Unlike lobbying groups, which work to influence politicians already in office, the league actively supports conservation-minded candidates during election years."

LCV also works to educate the public on current environmental issues. The group has recently organized grassroots campaigns to reauthorize a stronger Superfund bill for toxic waste cleanup, to enact national acid rain reduction legislation and to publicize hearings on high-level radioactive waste siting in New England.

Another priority of the organization is to hold elected officials accountable for their votes on environmental legislation by publishing annual voting charts for all members of Congress and bi-annual electrion reports.

Manchester, N.H., became the home of the league's first New England regional office in 1984. Its immediate success led to the establishment of a second regional office in Portsmouth, N.H.

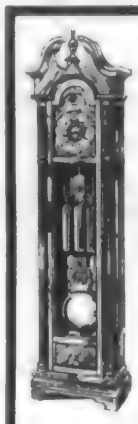

The league was established in 1970 by Marion Edey, an energetic congressional aide who saw a need to counterbalance the greater influence private interests held over public interests when it came to environmental legislation.

The league has grown in membership and influence since its first endorsement slate of 12 candidates was released 13 years ago. In the 1986 elections, 55 of 70 LCV-endorsed candidates were elected to Congress. Membership in the New England region alone tops 25,000 supporters.

New Englanders have historically been deeply concerned about the quality of their natural environment, added Ledbetter. "The League of Conservation Voters is dedicated to assuring that those individuals elected to public office will reflect the strong environmental values held by their constituents."

In 1774, John Wedgwood, the man who founded a company still famed for its tableware, made a service of nearly 1,000 decorated pieces for Catherine the Great of Russia.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer

INS AND OUTS OF DOORS

The position of doors in a kitchen is fundamental to the flow of traffic through the room and the layout of cabinets and appliances. In recent years, dutch doors to the outside have made a return to popularity. The top and bottom halves of the door function separately. The top section can open to allow in fresh air while the closed bottom section restrains small children. A pocket door separates interior spaces by deftly sliding out on a track from its pocket recess. Pocket doors offer the convenience of a nonswinging portal, so crucial in a kitchen. They do not interfere with traffic patterns or the layout. Pocket doors that meet in the middle require less clearance than standard pocket doors.

Many kitchens today have no doors but wide open spaces. So the flow of people and kitchen utensils are much freer. An important feature to an open kitchen is the style and design of cabinets you choose. At WINDSOR KITCHENS we can design and install a kitchen to fit any space or shape. You can select custom wood, custom laminated as well as stock lines. You'll also find adjustable shelves, all-wood door and drawer fronts and facility in cleaning. So do your kitchen shopping with us at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill. Wed. 9-8; Thursday 9 to 5:30; Friday 9 to 5:30; Saturday 10 to 2; Sun., Mon., Tues., closed or by appointment. Tel. 372-3444

South Andover Residents Ask For Improved Power Service

By Susan K. O'Neill

For years, residents living in the south end of town have suffered electrical power problems that their neighbors in other sections of Andover have not shared. They have grumbled among themselves about the inconvenience of their all-too-frequent blackouts and spot outages; a few have placed individual calls to the town offices, or to the Massachusetts Electric Company, to complain—or to find out what happened this time.

For the most part, however, they have simply lived with the problem as a fact of life.

Until Jan. 25, that is.

On that fateful day, known to sports enthusiasts as "Superbowl Sunday," a three-hour outage left South Andover and Ballardvale residents T.V.-less, frustrated—and angry.

"It was," recalls Morningside Drive resident Richard Kiberd, "the straw that broke the camel's back."

Kiberd and fellow South Andoverite Jared S.A. Clark, who lives on Azalea Drive, decided it was time to attack the power problem with show of the area's own power. After strategic phone calls to town and electric company officials, the two called together an informal committee of neighbors. The disgruntled residents drew up a petition demanding that the electric company give its 2000 customers in their section of Andover the same quality of electrical services afforded the town's other citizens.

The petition, which Kiberd expects to draw 400 to 500 signatures, will be heard by members of the Board of Selectmen at their Feb. 23 meeting, scheduled for 7:30 in the third floor conference room of the town offices.

Kiberd does not expect the meeting, which two representatives of Massachusetts Electric have agreed to attend, to be hostile. "It won't be 'the electric company versus the people,' " he says; it will, rather, be an exercise in fact-finding. It will also mark an attempt to garner a public acknowledgement from the company of the regions problems, and a commitment to correct them. "You really have to get this commitment at an open meeting," explains Kiberd.

He and Clark have also invited Rep. Sue Tucker to attend as a South Andover resident.

Kiberd says that, in their private conversations, company officials have been both cooperative and candid. "There has been no animosity at all," he says. Massachusetts Electric officials have, in fact, admitted that the south part of town has had problems—and that they have been allowed to deteriorate over the years.

According to Kiberd, the electric company blames many of the area's outage problems on Mother Nature—adverse weather, falling tree limbs and nibbling squirrels. The company has already begun to try to rectify the situation, he says. Workers are trimming trees more extensively; they are fusing the system so that outages that, in the past, would have paralysed the entire area can be confined to one or a few streets. The company has pledged to install sturdier cable, and fit transformers with squirrel-proof wire cages. Finally, workers are trying to locate "hot spots," says Kiberd—weak areas that are prone to trouble.

Kiberd says that he and his neighbors have been told that it will take time for Massachusetts Electric to upgrade the system in South Andover. "It won't be an 'overnight thing,' " he says.

If that is the case, so be it, he says. What the residents want, in truth, is a "sure thing"—uninterrupted service; service that compares with that received by the rest of the town. Kiberd and Clark hope that South Andoverites turn out in force on Feb. 23 to lobby for it.

Atkins Nominates Four For Service Acadamies

By Susan K. O'Neill

Four Andover students are among the 31 fifth district residents who have been nominated by U.S. Rep. Chet Atkins for 1987 admission to the nation's military academies. According to a release from Atkins' office, Robert Pothier, Melinda Carnes, James Phieffer and Brian Lannan were notified late last month that they had qualified for the congressman's final list of candidates.

For Robert Pothier, the son of Robert B. and Elaine Pothier of 7 High Plain Road, the nomination for admission to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., is a case of both personal and familial deja vu. Last year, when he was a senior at Andover High School, Pothier was nominated to the list. At that time, however, the then-varsity hockey and soccer goalie suffered from a sports-related shoulder separation. Because of his medical problem, Pothier was not accepted at Annapolis.

After graduation, Pothier had surgery on his shoulder and entered the University of Vermont at Burlington as an engineering student. He is currently on a leave of absence from that school, and is taking courses at Merrimack College.

When he received his notification of nomination this year—this time, as Atkins' principal candidate (first choice) for Annapolis—he was, Pothier said, "extremely excited. I've wanted to go to the service academy since I was six."

If he is accepted, Pothier will be following in the footsteps of his father, who graduated from the Naval Academy in 1967. The senior Pothier pursued a military career that included service as a helicopter pilot in the Viet Nam conflict.

Melinda Page Carnes, the daughter of David P. and Jean R. Carnes of 25 Bailey Road, is Atkins' principal nominee for admission to the military academy at West Point. She is a senior at Phillips Academy, where she has a primary interest in the study of foreign languages. She plays goalie on the school's varsity girls' ice hockey team.

According to her mother, Carnes has also been nominated for admission to West Point by Sen. Edward Kennedy. Jean Carnes said that her daughter's interest in the academy was sparked by her desire to serve her country and her respect for the quality of education at West Point.

James Phieffer, the son of James J. and Susan Phieffer of 25 Abbot Bridge Drive, was nominated for admission to the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs. The Phillips Academy senior participates in crew, wrestling and scuba diving at his school.

Brian Patrick Lannan, the son of George F. and Mary Ellen Lannan of 47 High Street, is a senior at Andover High School. He has been nominated for admission to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Applicants for nomination are selected by Congressman Atkins' screening committee of local officials and community

Nominees must then complete a series of applications and tests for officials at their chosen academies, by whom the ultimate decisions on admission will be made.

According to a spokesman from Atkins' office, most successful candidates should be notified of their admission by May 1. The spokesman estimates that each year, on the average, at least one of the congressman's nominees is admitted to each academy.

Adler Leads Seminar

On Monday, Feb. 9, nationally respected educational leader Dr. Mortimer Adler will lead Andover teachers and students in a series of seminars that utilize his "Paideia" program.

Adler and a committee of prominent educators pioneered the Paideia program, which derives its name from a Greek word that connotes "child rearing," in 1982. As he has explained it, the program postulates that "there are three common callings to which all our children are destined: to earn a living in an intelligent and responsible fashion; to function as intelligent and responsible citizens, and to make both of these things serve the purpose of leading intelligent responsible lives—to enjoy as fully as possible all the goods that make a human life as good as it can be."

In the schools, the program features a combination of organized lecture in established subjects; coaching of small groups or individuals in communication skills, calculating, problem solving, measuring, estimating and critical judgment; and teaching through discussion and Socratic questioning.

Adler's programs on Monday will include a morning staff seminar in Paideia, and a second seminar in the afternoon with a group of randomly selected sixth, eighth and tenth graders. Both seminars will be based upon the reading of the Greek play "Antigone."

Afterward, Adler will address the staff and invited guests on the "Wednesday Revolution."

Members of the public who are interested in attending the afternoon session, scheduled from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. in the Collins Center, should call the office of School Superintendent Kenneth Seifert. Those who would like further information about Paideia and its use in the school system should contact one of the following designated Paideia-trained teachers:

Andover Theatre Company: Terror Stalks the Stage

For the next two weekends, terrorism will hold center stage at the Memorial Auditorium, as the Andover Theatre Company presents "The Desperate Hours." In the drama, a family is held hostage by three escaped convicts, one of whom harbors a grudge against the local sheriff. The play finds its power in its exploration of relationships, and individual personalities, challenged and re-molded by terrorism.

The production will play at 8 p.m. this Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6 and 7, and next Friday and Saturday, Feb. 13 and 14, at the Memorial Auditorium next to the Town Offices. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Photos, from above left: Convicts Glen and Hank Griffin (Dennis Lorne and David Bourgeois) argue about what to do with the Hilliard family, whom they have taken hostage; Mrs. Hilliard (Barbara Bourgeois) pays junkman Mr. Patterson (Joseph Miglieo); Unaware of the family's plight, teacher Miss Swift (Gail Ralston) drops by to give Ralph Hilliard (Bryan Maher) his homework assignments; Mr. Hilliard (Frank Carr) gets rid of convict Robbish (Ron Wackowski); Mrs. Hilliard slaps convict Glenn Griffin; Police officials Fredricks (Steven White), Bard (William Joubert), Carson (Richard McMannus) and Winston (Scott Spencer) pore over details of the case; Cindy Hilliard (Jude Jennings) and boyfriend, Chuck Wright (Dan Maurno) bid each other goodnight on the porch; Mr. Hilliard has a private word with his son; Director Kim Enders discusses the fine points of a difficult scene with two of her actors.

Abbot For Town School

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

What is going to happen to the Abbot Academy campus?

The town is growing and the schools are filling up. It is inevitable that we will be looking forward to a new elementary school within the next five years. Where will it go? These are problems for the school committee, the selectmen and the finance committee.

The buildings on the Abbot campus are not at all what we would build today, but they would be fine to carry us over for three or four years while we planned for a new one. Beautiful Draper Hall would have to go. It has been the worry of the fire department and fire insurance companies for many years. But, it is the most beautiful site in town for a new school building.

Abbot has so many good facilities. It is a beautiful campus with lots of play area for athletic teams.

With so many traditions and so many memories for the many Andover girls who attended the school, I'm sure that they would be pleased to have the town schools take it over. I'd like to see some letters to the editor from a lot of the Andover girls who attended Abbot. I hope they will respond.

A Dilemma

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Ms. O'Neil's article in last week's edition of the TOWNSMAN about Mr. Trask's efforts to manage his solid waste problems is somewhat symptomatic of the dilemma the state of Massachusetts is facing with landfills in many communities nearing capacity. Increasingly stringent environmental safeguards are also making new initiatives more challenging and expensive.

For communities in which trash-to-energy facilities are operating, possible health impacts due to the release of harmful byproducts of incineration are being evaluated. Concerned citizens and public interest groups have focused their concerns on long-term effects and are seeking other alternatives.

The alternatives, as notably realized by the purveyor of Mr. Trask's dumpster, are limited. There are clear indications that Massachusetts residents in less populated areas of the state are not willing to solve the solid waste problems of the urban areas. Likewise, our neighboring states in New England are also unwilling to accept "Mass. Trash" any longer.

Eventually, the economics of solid waste management involving source reduction and meaningful recycling will become a greater driving mechanism. However, until then, environmental impacts to our water, air and soil will continue to expand.

A Needed Program

Both the selectmen and school committee have been apprised of the need for an afternoon child care program in the community.

It has been generally agreed by both groups that a pilot program should get underway as early as the next school year and to that end have turned the matter over to Town Manager Kenneth Mahony for examination and implementation.

The implementation of such a program responds to a vital need in the community and one which, it would appear, can be accomplished with little difficulty.

The need, of course, is self-evident. There are a number of families where both parents work of necessity. In such a situation, a supervised child care facility becomes a virtual necessity.

Under the suggested plan, the program would be self-supporting through the fees paid for those using the service.

Certainly, facilities would be available with the school buildings becoming virtually vacant late in the afternoon, thus adaptable to conversion to child-care use.

The study committee appointed last year did a comprehensive and thorough job of evaluating the need, then coming up with suggested ways of implementation and deserve praise for their work.

There is one point in the report which, frankly, would require considerable examination before implementation and it is probably a considerable distance down the road anyway.

The committee has suggested the examination of a town-sponsored center to provide care and programs for pre-school through adolescence. While such a facility would be a nice addition to services the community may offer, it may also be a burden too costly to undertake.

It may be worthwhile to look into the possibility of providing such a service and a facility to accommodatde them. But it should also be borne in mind that basically municipal government and its services cannot and should not be the response to what may be considered a luxury item when looking at the total needs of the community.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — February 1912

Local people who go to Lawrence daily were considerably inconvenienced on Monday morning by the tie-up in the trolley service occasioned by the strike troubles in Lawrence. So many cars were put out of commission by the mob that the schedule running time was hopelessly ineffective for some hours.

Several pedestrians were startled Sunday by the reckless chauffeur on Main St. The machine came around the corner of Chestnut St., careened down Main St., and finally, when apparently headed straight for the sidewalk and Whiting's display windows, was thrown back into its course by colliding with the granite post on the curbing.

A rehearsal of the choral union composed of the South, Free and Baptist churches was held at the Free Church last night in preparation for the choral service to be held next month.

I Haven't Bettered, Just Differed

By Susan K. O'Neill

I was eating lunch in a restaurant with my teenaged daughter not long ago, when she spied a few of her classmates at a nearby table.

She blanched. "Oh, no!" she said in a near-whisper. "There are people I know here, and I'm with my mother!"

Hmmm.

I should have been hurt.

I was, instead, stunned. For years, in her odd moments of frustration, my mother had willed this to happen to me.

The power of maternal voodoo.

As I nibbled at my veggie sub—the Yuppie's madeleine—I contemplated the strange, cyclical nature of my life.

I can't remember the exact moment at which my parents—my mother, in particular—became an embarrassment to me, but I do recall certain telling incidents that marked my leap from pre-adolescent innocence (call it "B.H." for "Before Hormones") to my coming of age and wisdom ("A.H.," of course).

There were, for example, The Curlers.

They were pink sponge curlers, to be exact, and Mom wore them when we went shopping in the supermarket. B.H., I had given little thought to them.

A.H., I noticed that they glowed. Like beacons. Drawing eyes for miles.

I remember, in high school, wishing that my mother could be slender and elegant. That she wouldn't dress in home-made polyester double-knit pant-suits. That she could at least drive a car.

What I didn't know then, of course, is that a slim, elegant mother with impeccable taste in clothing and a valid Indiana license would have been just as embarrassing to me. The problem was something more fundamental than mannerisms or wardrobe. It was this: she was my mother.

We shared the same house. The same roots. And, God help me, the same gene pool.

The horror!

I refused to dress in double knits. I got my driver's license, became an activist, dropped my religion. I moved out; went to nursing school; joined the army.

I became the pioneer. I was breaking the mold, forging new territory.

Bettering.

Now, back in the restaurant, I sat—in faded jeans and shapeless coat, my hair shaggy, my sneakers down-at-the-heels—and I assessed my daughter. The carefully blow-dried hair. The artfully-applied makeup. Wardrobe by Benetton, bought with the earnings from a summer job. High-top black sneakers by Reebok.

Hmmm.

My parents now live in Florida, on a road that my mother, still license-less, will never drive. Mom still dresses in home-made double-knit polyester.

She still shops in curlers.

We get along pretty well now, Mom and me. I've come to realize that, maybe, I haven't bettered her; I've just differed from her.

I guess you might say I've come to know and understand her.

And to understand why, when I call her up long distance now, she's so insufferably smug.

AHS Hockey Puts Central Down 8-4

The Andover High School hockey team proved that the underdogs don't always lose on Superbowl Sunday when they defeated the powerhouse Central Catholic team 8-4 in what may have been their best game of the season.

Central scored on a powerply during the first two minutes of play.

Less than three minutes later Andover all-star Chris Sapuppo blasted in from outside the blue line and tied the game 1-1.

A series of Andover penalties gave Central a powerplay advantage that lasted most of the remainder of the period. However, Andover goalie Chris Hansberry made several heroic saves.

With less than two minutes left in the period, Andover grabbed the lead with a goal by captain Glenn Allard and an assist by Mark Neaves.

Although Andover came into the second period with the powerplay, Central's goalie consistently turned back all their attempts to score. Three minutes into the period, Central tied the game 2-2 and went ahead 3-2 with just a few minutes left in the second period.

But, with only 16 seconds left before the end of the period, Andover rookie Brent Raftery, playing for the injured Matt Young, tied the game. His first goal as a Warrior was assisted by Jeff McNeil and Brian Costello.

Andover started the third period with a second goal by Glenn Allard, assisted by Dave Curtis and Steve Donovan, to take the lead. Immediately after the faceoff, however, Central tied the game 4-4.

The strong defense of Chris Hansberry, Sapuppo, Curtis, John Gangi and Rob Moody made Central's fourth goal their last and allowed the offense to score four more goals.

Brian Costello, assisted by Raftery, scored the winning goal. Curtis scored the sixth goal and Costello scored the seventh with an assist by McNeil.

With three seconds left in the game, Allard drove home the victory with his third goal of the game making the final score 8-4.

Andover 12 - Lawrence 3

The Andover Golden Warriors blasted 12 goals past Lawrence High School on their way to a 12-3 victory. Just three minutes into the game John Gangi blasted a slap shot from the point and Hugh Maginnis re-directed it into the net for the first goal of the game.

Lawrence tied it up. With a Lawrence penalty for slashing, Andover's power play went to work. Steve Donovan scored on some stylish passing from Mark Neaves and Glann Allard, ending the period with Andover leading 2-1.

The fireworks really began in the second period as Andover scored three unanswered goals. Neaves started the romp with an assist from center Donovan. Then Brent Raftry slid a pass to Jeff McNeil whose accurate wrist shot upped the score 4-1. McNeil scored his second goal on the next face off, with the assist going to Rob Moody.

With 2:50 left in the period, Lawrence put a rebound past Hansberry. The Warriors added another tally when Allard finished some passing by line mates Donovan and Neaves. The period

Athletic Group Organizes

An organizational meeting was held Sunday in Andover to form an athletic association which would support secondary school sports programs. Mike Cassily and Jim Dziadosz hosted nearly 30 people at St. Robert Bellarmine Parish Hall. Those in attendance reprsented town booster clubs, parents of athletes, coaches and sporting event organizers.

William Agnew, a founder of the Methuen Athletic Association and invited speaker, reviewed the steps taken to form that community's athletic organization.

Attendees voiced concerns about the lack of publicity given many Andover sports events. The suggestion for making the association an information exchange about financial aid for college-bound athletes was widely supported. Membership for the association is expected to be drawn from supporters of all sports currently sponsored in Andover secondary schools.

Cassily emphasized that the association does not intend to assume booster club functions already provided by town sports organizations. Existing clubs were observed by attendees to be award/reward vehicles for specific sports. Cassily was joined by others in claiming that some sports programs are underfunded and underpublicized.

A steering committee was assigned the task of formulating organizational objectives and making a presentation to all interested parties. Their first meeting will be held Sunday, Feb. 8, at 7 p.m. in St. Robert's Parish Hall.

AHS Hockey

ended with Andover ahead 6-2.

The frenzy continued when Brian Costello, with only 50 seconds off the clock in the third period, fired one past the goalie, assists to McNeil and Raftery. The line of Maginnis, Stoltz and LoPresti got into the act next. Maginnis skated over Lawrence's blue line, slid the puck to Lou LoPresti who then shot on goal and Rob Stoltz's defelection tapped it in. Lawrence answered with their final goal of the game.

With 8:41 minutes left in the game, Hugh Maginnis passed to Neaves who drew the goalie to the corner of the net, then gave the puck back to Maginnis who popped it into the open net for his second gaol to make the score 9-3.

On the next goal, Chris Patten took a feed from McNeil at mid-ice, skated through several Lawrence defenders and blasted the puck into the top corner of the net to score his first goal as a varsity skater.

With 1:41 minutes left in the game, defenseman Andy Weiner fed a streaking Neaves at mid-ice (Neaves fourth assist of the contest), set up Allard for the Andover goal. Gangi, who started it all in the first period, ended the show on a pass from Brian Costello with the final score, Andover 12, Lawrence 3.

In 1915 it was proposed in the Texas legislature that a separate state be made of the Penhandle or northwestern part of Texas. The new state would have been called State of Jefferson.

A's Lose Heartbreaker

Andover seemed unbeatable in the first period as they roared to a 3-0 lead. Bob Sheehan opened the scoring with a slap shot to the top left corner. Sean Darwin teamed with Billy Owens for the second goal. Then Chris Pothier tipped home a Todd-Allard slap sot to give each of the three lines a score.

Northern Middlesex came back to even the score 3-3 in the second period. Goalie Mike Daley stopped Northern Middlesex on breakaways to keep Andover even heading into period three.

Donnie Fraser broke out of his own end to put Andover ahead at 9:03 of the third period. Allard added what seemed like an insurance goal at 8:17 while Andover was on a power play. But Northern Middlesex scored three goals in the last five minutes of play to earn a come-from-behind 6-5 victory.

Kovacs Leading Swimmers

The Clark University men's swim team is off to a good start with a 4-2 record, including an upset over Bates College and a first victory over Babson. Second year head coach Ross Gerry expects the team to place in the top six in Division III at the New England Championship and in the top 20 overall among Division I, II and III squads.

Two major contributors are senior captain Tom Ferrari of Norwood and John Kovacs of Andover.

Ferrari is enjoying his best season in collegiate competiton. He has already qualified for the New England Championship in the 100 freestyle and is expected to qualify in the 200 and 50 freestyle. "Tom has responded to his role as captain by consistently performing well under pressure. He was instrumental in our win over Babson. He won the 500 free, an event he wasn't favored in," said Gerry. Ferrari is a computer science major who plans a career as a programmer/analyst.

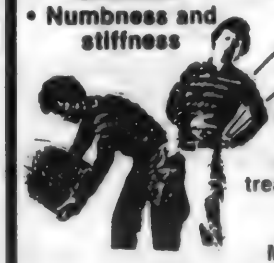

Newcomer Kovacs' versatility has been relied upon heavily this season. His ability to swim freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke has played a key role in the Cougar's success. Already he has qualified for the New England Championship in the 400 IM and is expected to qualify in the 200 backstroke and 500 freestyle. "With someone like John on the team, we can hide our weaknesses. Opponents don't know were he will swim because there are so many options. John has scored in the widest variety of events," said Gerry. Kovacs is a management major who plans a career in investment banking.

Andover Youngsters Participate

Boston Bruins left wing Charlie Simmer and former Bruins' star Johnny Bucyk hosted a hockey clinic for 20 youngsters in the Bruins' new official training center, the Ristuccia Exposition Center, in Wilmington on Tuesday.

Five teens from the Andover youth hockey league attended: Bill Owens, Todd Allard, Jay Coburn, Chris Pothier and Bobby Sheehan.

The Bruins held their first practice a day after the clinic. The Ristuccia Exposition Center offers the Bruins customized facilities which include private dressing and training rooms and an elaborate medical room. According to Harry Sinden, general manager of the Bruins, the Ristuccia Exposition Center will be their "home away from home" and the Bruins are looking forward to practicing there.

Volleyball Tourney Is Benefit

Century 21 is putting their staff to work for Easter Seal this year by sponsoring Century 21 Easter Seal volleyball marathons in communities throughout the state.

The volleyball marathons are annual events sponsored by Century 21 to raise money for Easter Seal services for people with disabilities.

A game will be played at North Meadow Racquet and Health Recrearium in Tewksbury on Friday, March 13, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday, March 21, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Volleyball teams may be formed by companies, recreation leagues, civic organizations or any group of nine to 12 people who want to form a team and play for Easter Seals.

All funds benefit Easter Seal services which include therapeutic swim programs, post-polio information groups, camping, an equipment loan program and Easter Seal Home Health Care.

To register or for more information, call the Easter Seal Northeast Office.

Squirt B's Win

The Andover Squirt B's got back on the winning track with a 4-1 victory over Melrose. With Phil Smith back in goal, Coach Doug Guittarr was able to reunite his line of Danny Hansberry, Dana Difiore and David Alpert who responded with all four goals. Alpert scored at 1:36 of the first period and Difiore scored at 11:02 to put Andover up 2-0. After Melrose scored early in the second period, Hansberry notched his first of two for the day with the team shorthanded to go up 3-1. In the third, Hansberry gathered a pass from Difiore at his own blue line and made a crowd-raising dash up the ice to beat the goalie for the final score of the day.

The lines of Sean Donohue, Doug Batchelder and Tom Felago and Mark Pirri, Marc Escott and Jason Loomer combined with the defense of Matt Johnson, Peter Volpe and David Bailey to keep Melrose off stride while the Andvoer offense was being unleashed.

Andover Auto Body: Putting The Pieces Back Together

There's a very interesting bulletin board in the office at Andover Auto Body. There's a picture of a Dodge Caravan with the left front fender completely caved in. Then there's a picture of the same Dodge Caravan looking like new. There's a picture of a little Citation that was totaled, then there's a picture of that same car rebuilt from the ground up. There's a picture of a 280Z with one whole side destroyed, then there's a picture of a 280Z looking like it just rolled off the showroom floor. What you're seeing is before and after pictures - before owner Dave Townsend and his crew start their work, and after they're finished.

You'll also find letters like this on the bulletin board: "Regarding work done on my automobile by the Andover Auto Body. The work done on my automobile was extremely satisfactory. Their service was excellent and their price fair. I recommend them highly."

In the picture above you see the crew standing by Gary's car, a 1979 Corvette. Their plan is to restore the car completely, using custom painting and customizing the interior. They are also working on the restoration of a 1964 Porsche.

Let Dave and his crew take the sting out of accidents by providing you with free estimates on collision repairs. Gary Kalip has recently finished school for Auto Appraising and will soon be joining Dave Townsend in that aspect of the business. Senior citizens are entitled to a 5% discount on labor.

Andover Auto Body has expanded by adding 3000 square feet of shop space so they have plenty of room for your business. Visit their location at 2 Gradall Lane(off lower Essex St.) Mon-Fri 8-5, Sat 8-12, or call 470-2485.

Andover Photo: Now Offering In-House Color Processing

There are new and exciting things happening at Andover Photo. Owner Dick Chapell has recently added a new dimension to his already multi-faceted business. Andover Photo now has the capability of processing your color or negative film in-house. They can not only process your film and make standard 3½x5 prints, they can make reprints and enlargements up to 11x14.

Andover Photo has had alot of experience seeing how other labs process color film. Dick Chapell feels that their in-house color processing will produce high quality results because, "We know what a good print looks like from working with three commercial processors and a number of custom color labs." Their color lab boasts state-of-the-art equipment and is managed by Ed Eich. They have a fast turn around capability if needed.

The staff at Andover Photo is proud of the fact that they remain the only complete service professional camera specialty store in the area. At Andover Photo you can buy the camera, the flash and the film. You can have it developed there or you can buy the supplies to develop and print yourself. You can buy albums and frames, or if your prints aren't fit to frame, you can talk to the experts and find out what went wrong.

Andover Photo is comprised of the retail store located at 27 Barnard St. managed by George Chapell, the custom black & white darkroom headed up by Sara Driscoll, the professional photography studio at Dundee Park run by David Powell, and now the new color lab. The professional studio is equipped to handle a range of photographic needs including portrait, commercial and industrial. Arrange to have your photographs taken in the studio, or at the location you choose.

Whatever your photographic needs, Andover Photo will do the job for you, providing quality that is sure to please. Visit them M—Th 9-5:30, Fri 9-8, Sat 9-5, or phone 475-1452.

Sixth Candidate Joins Selectman's Contest

A sixth challenger has joined the race to fill the vacancy on Andover's Board of Selectmen. According to Town Clerk Elden Salter, Robert C. Hughes of 13 Wildrose Drive has taken out nomination papers for the position, which will be filled at the upcoming town election.

Hughes joins a slate of five other candidates for the seat left vacant by the recent death of Selectman Donn Byrne. The other contenders are: Gail Ralston, 60 Chestnut St.; Robert Merrill, 57 Cross St.; Florence Buck, 8 Summer St.; Gerald Grasso, 6 Arthur Road; and William Downs, 147 Elm St.

The contest for the open School Committee seat, to be vacated by retiring committee Chairman Michael Giammusso, is holding steady at four candidates. Vying for the opening are Margo T. Tilghman, 4 Lovejoy Road; John Nardozza, 59 Juniper Road; Sean L. Callahan, 100 Washington Park; and Edward J. Kupa, 4 Joseph St.

Both the School Committee and Board of Selectmen positions are for three-year terms.

The other ballot spot, the one-year term of Town Moderator, has incumbent James Doherty seeking re-election.

Feb. 9 is the final date for filing nomination papers for the three positions.

Second Fire In Duplex

Andover Fire Department officials are investigating the cause of a second fire in the basement of a recently-burned duplex on North Main Street.

At mid-day on Tuesday, according to Fire Department Deputy Chief Tom Andrew, a passerby noticed smoke issuing from the basement of the unoccupied house at 120/122 North Main St. and notified the department. When firefighters arrived on the scene at 12:09 p.m., they found a small pile of smoldering debris on the basement steps. They quickly extinguished the blaze and returned to the station within 25 minutes.

According to Andrew, the boarded-up building had been entered. Deputy Fire Inspector Bob Boush is investigating the fire, in conjunction with the detective division of the Andover Police Department; they have taken samples of materials from the point of origin to the State Crime Lab for analysis.

Andrew said that no further damage was done to the building, which was almost totally destroyed by fire on Dec. 9. That first blaze originated in the basement on the tenant side; Andrew said that investigation had found it to be "very strongly probably electrical in origin."

The house belongs to Edward and Kathy Smeltzer, who have been living in a temporary residence next door while awaiting settlement by their insurance company on the original fire's damage.

The 128 Ford/Saab/Volvo "Highway Helper" - A Motorist's Best Friend

128 Ford•Saab•Volvo: Repaying The Community

Tom McManus, owner of 128 Ford•Saab•Volvo is concerned about the credibility of car dealers. He'd like to change the public's apparent low opinion of those in the car business. Toward that end, he has introduced the new "Highway Helper" van.

The purpose of the "Highway Helper" van is to assist motorists in distress on the highway. The van is piloted by Michael Villania who travels Route 128 and 93, Monday through Friday from 6:30-10a.m. and 2:30-6p.m. servicing vehicles that require assistance. The "Highway Helper" is equipped to handle flat tires, to fill tires with air, push cars to safety, provide fuel, jump start, and to supply water for overheated vehicles. The "Highway Helper" is also equipped with a phone which allows drivers to call home, work, or a tow service. The "Highway Helper" is a non-profit operation whose sole purpose is to show appreciation to the surrounding communities. According to General Sales Manager David Dimetri, they're assisting an average of 15 motorists per day.

128 Ford/Saab/Volvo has been a family operation for many years. They are the number one volume dealership in New England and also the largest exclusive Volvo Dealership. In the past year they opened a new Showroom for Volvos. Economy, luxury and style come in many models at 128 Ford•Saab•Volvo which is located on Route 128 in Reading, just of Exit 39. They have a complete service department with a body shop and parts department. Their dealership has maintained that service after the sale is what separates a great dealership from the ordinary ones. Come to 128 Ford•Saab•Volvo and judge for yourself. Sales hours: Monday-Thursday 9-9, Friday 9-7, Saturday 9-5. Service Hours: Monday - Friday 7:30-7:00. Call 944-6835 or 944-6960.

The owner shall submit with his sign permit application an overall signage plan for the building.

(6) No sign shall project more than five (5) feet over any public right-of-way or other public property. Any sign projecting over a public right-of-way shall be covered by liability insurance deemed appropriate by the Town Counsel in form, content, and amount for the reasonable protection of the Town from claims against it, and verified by a certificate of insurance filed with the Town Clerk."

6. By striking subsections 3.e.(2) and (3) thereof in their entirety and substituting therefore the following:

(2) Signs attached flat against the wall or canopy of a building, advertising the name of the firm or goods or services available or produced on the premises; provided that the total area of all such signs does not exceed twenty (20) percent of the area of the side of the building to which they are attached or one hundred (100) square feet, whichever is less.

(3) One free-standing sign, containing the name or other identification of the use on the property, for each street on which the property fronts, each sign limited to an area of fifty (50) square feet. Such sign shall not be located closer than (5) feet to any property line or the line of any way, and no part of any such sign shall be more than fifteen (15) feet above ground level. No sign shall be located so as to endanger public safety by impairing vision of vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

Standards

The Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Health, Dr. Bailus Walker, Jr. has set statewide standards for the rehabilitation of heart disease patients.

State law now requires health insurance plans to pay for rehabilitation services to patients who have suffered heart attacks or have been diagnosed with cardiac (heart) disease.

The standards were developed by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health's Division of Health Care Quality in cooperation with the Cardiac Rehabilitation Advisory Committee and the Massachusetts Society for Cardiac Rehabilitation.

Under the standards issued by Walker, cardiac rehabilitation programs would include appropriate exercise regimens prescribed by a physician and education for the patient and family to control smoking, high blood pressure, weight, diabetes, stress and cholesterol, all factors that increase the risk of death from heart disease.

The standards, which take effect immediately, require approved cardiac rehabilitation programs to operate under the supervision of a qualified physician and

A 1985 graduate of Andover High School, Fitzgerald has been specializing in the backstroke.

Lowell Playwright Work To Premiere At Rep.

"First Night," a professional world premiere by Lowell native Jack Neary, will be presented by the Merrimack Repertory Theatre February 13 through March 7. This romantic comedy is told as a memory play by Danny, an unhappy video store worker who is reunited on New Year's Eve with Meredith, the one great love of his life. How these two come to terms with themselves and their feelings provides many touching moments.

Neary is also a director and actor and was seen last season at the Merrimack in "Requiem for a Heavyweight." During the summer months of 1983-85, he was producer/director of the Mount Holyoke College Summer Theatre. "First Night" was first produced by the Foothills Theatre in May 1985 and the Mount Holyoke College Summer Theatre in August 1986.

John Hickok, who plays Danny, appeared several seasons go in the Merrimack's production of "Working." He has appeared at the Boston Shakspeare Company and the Charles Playhouse and was mentioned for a "Best Performance 1985" by the Boston Globe.

Judity Yerby will play Meredith. She understudied the role of Agnes in "Agnes of God" on Broadway and toured with the National Company, starring Elizabeth Ashley and Mercedes McCambridge. Her first film, "Molly's Pilgrim," won the 1985 Academy Award for best short subject.

The production will be directed by Joan Courtney Murray, who directed the show in its first full-length version last summer at the Mount Holyoke College Summer Theatre.

The set has been designed by Leslie Taylor, who designed MRT's productions of "Educating Rita" and "Crimes of the Heart." Costumes are designed by MRT's resident costume designer Amanda Aldridge and lights by Jon Ambrosone, MRT's lighting designer. Sound will be designed by Arlene Grabowski, also of MRT's staff.

The theatre is located in Liberty Hall, part of Lowell's Memorial Auditorium complex, in the historic downtown district. Performances ar Mondays and Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m.; Sundays at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Wednesday matinees at 2 p.m. February 18 and 25. A school matinee has been scheduled at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, March 4. Group rates and reservations are available through the box office.

Marriott Places First

For the second consecutive year Marriott Hotels and Resorts has been named "the best overall system in the United States" by Business Travel News. In a survey of more than 500 business travel managers and travel agents, Marriott placed first out of 70 major hotel chains in 10 of 11 service categories.

"The Andover Marriott is proud of this recognition," said William Skoglund, general manager. "The people surveyed by Business Travel News are the professionals in the industry. The survey results clearly show that they recognize our commitment to providing quality service.

"Here in Andover, we serve both the long-distance travelers and the local community. Every person on our staff is dedicated to providing the very highest standards of service in the hotel business. Whether it is a guest from out of town or a local couple who has dinner at our restaurant, our goal is to offer the kind of service for which the Marriott has become so well-known," he stated.

Among the categories in which the Marriott ranked number one were "best monetary value," "highest food quality," "most helpful and courteous staff," "best frequent traveler program" and "easiest to work with to arrange individual travel."

"Assuring the Andover Marriott guests high monetary value, attractive facilities and consistently high levels of service and food are among my top priorities," added Skoglund.

"Everyone of our staff is highly motivated to meet the expectations of our guests, because we place a lot of emphasis on guest service in our staff meetings and training. We constantly research the attitudes of our guests about the services we offer, our facilities, quality and consistency of the dining experience at Marriott and then design our product around these expectations," he said.

Industrial Condo Sales High

Investment in industrial condominiums continues strong in the Route 114 area with the sale of two buildings, totalling 16,400 square feet, at Elm Square Industrial Condominium in North Andover.

According to Madeline Sullivan of Carlson Commercial, exclusive marketing agent for the property, the two buildings were sold for $1.8 million to Bank Street Associates of Peabody by developer Patrick S. Cone of Elm Square Builders. Bank Street Associates subsequently leased one of the buildings, which totals 6,400 square feet, to United Plastic Fabricating, Inc., a manufacturer of plastic water tanks for fire engines.

Representing Bank Street Associates in the lease transaction was Jeff Donohoe of Carlson Commecial. United Plastic Fabricating was represented by Bob Harhen, also of Carlson Commercial. According to Donohoe, the second 10,000-sq.-ft. building is now available for lease.

The 6.4 acre site fronting Route 114, which was originally listed by Carlson Commercial, also includes a building recently purchased by Captair, a French manufacturer. According to Nelson Emmons of Carlson, who was also involved in the sales and leasing efforts, the strong demand for industrial space in the area led to the land use recommendation.

"Because of the market demand, the entire development at Elm Square was fast-track," he commented. "Land site acquisition, construction, sale and leasing were all accomplished within a year's time."

Carlson Commercial is a division of the Carlson Companies, the leading real estate services firm north of Boston. Based in Salem, Carlson Commercial also has offices in Manchester, N.H.

lecture on "Irish Ireland" before the Andover Public School Teachers Association on Tuesday evening, Feb. 13. Dr. Bowker is always a welcome speaker in Andover, and is said to be an extremely interesting man, and the pictures which he will show are very beautiful.

At a meeting of interested young men of the town held last Sunday afternoon, a local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was organized with about 50 members.

50 YearsAgo — February 1937

The Board of Public Works will ask permission at town meeting to spend $1,729 of its regular appropriations for a sidewalk snow plow which is at present being rented until town meeting. The renting arrangement was suggested by Theodore Waddell, director of accounts in the division of corporations and taxation, who stated that the board could not buy such a piece of equipment without specific authorization from the town.

Two more men took out nomination papers this week, one adding further complications to the already over-complicated tree warden's contest and the other adding a complication to the thus far quite peaceful school board race. No one has yet taken out papers in opposition to Selectman Howell F. Shepard, and with Thursday at five the deadline for filing papers, it is almost certain that no one will.

"Two Masters," a playlet, will be presented at the Philathea meeting of the Baptist church tonight at 8 p.m. A trio will sing "The Holy Hour" by Nevins and Helen Goff will present a violin solo.

The school committee on Tuesday evening withdrew the permission previously given the W.P.A. to use the Shawsheen school building for a recreational project because of damages which took place at the school as a result of this use.

A total of $2,614.02 had been raised by the local Red Cross last night to bring the total to better than $1,000 over the quota set for the town. The drive is still being carried on in an endeavor to raise as much as possible for the flood sufferers, since Washington officials have stated that they can use all they receive.

25 Years Ago — February 1962

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society launches its season next Monday evening with a public rehearsal in the Andover High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

"What is the most important problem facing Andover today and how would you solve it?" is the question which each candidate for the Board of Selectmen will answer at the candidate's meeting which will be held next week.

10 Years Ago — February 1977

Edward F. Maguire of Dover, formerly deputy commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Education, this week stepped into the new $25,000-a-year post of personnel/business manager for Andover Schools.

Three Andover juveniles will face court action later this month for their involvement in theft and vandalism at Shawsheen School.

Among winter's phenomena this year is the fact that fuel consumption in Andover schools is almost exactly the same, barrel for barrel, as it was at the same time last year.

People working in temperatures above 90°F and humidities above 40 percent show higher rates of error in work performance and a notable decrease in short-term memory.

Seifert

gram.

Marden added that she had hoped the school committee would have had specific figures by this time in the budgetary process.

Richard Neal, committee member, explained that exact figures could not be decided upon unitl they had more information on the contents of "the bucket," the shared costs of the schools and the town.

Marden suggested that at a joint meeting of the School Committee, the Selectmen and the Finance Committee, the group decide on which articles are most important and only propose what is feasibly fundable at town meeting. Unless this is done, she added, the townspeople may vote in favor of more than is "doable" with monies available.

Neal argued that proposing only as much as could be funded, would take away the voter's right to choose from several proposals what he wants from his community.

Marden explained that she did not want to mislead the public into believing that just because a number of things are proposed that they can all be done. In other words, choices will have to be made.

Committeman David Birnbach commented that he would not compromise a program that Andover residents want simply to avoid conflict among various town boards.

Seifert then extended the discussion to include the proposed Master Plan, explaining that administrators are taught to plan over several years, but that the budgeting is extended on a yearly basis. He reiterated his stand that the committee must commit itself to implementing the master plan now, or it is useless to even formulate it. "We've gone to the well too many times," he said in reference to staff usage for the formulation of programs that never come into being.

Chairman Michael Giammusso commented that although the $25,000 proposal to create a master plan could go into the operating budget, keeping it as a separate article for town meeting vote would stimulate public discussion of the school system's goals.

Robb agreed, adding that, since funded under a separate article, monies could not be shifted from the master plan to other areas at any point, thus committing completion of the preparation proc-ess.

The School Committee will once again have a joint meeting with the Selectmen and the Finance Committee on Thursday, Feb. 19.

Although the original playing cards came from 10th century AD China, the earliest to bear the four suits of the modern pack reputedly date from France in 1440 AD.

Blood Clot Treatment

A new life-saving drug that dissolves blood clots, which will be used in the treatment of disorders like heart attacks and strokes, is showing great promise in clinical trials, according to Victor Gurewich,M.D., director of St. Elizabeth's Hospital Vascular Laboratory and professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine.

The drug, pro-urokinase, was discovered and developed in Gurewich's lab at St. Elizabeth's.

The first phase of clinical trials on the drug has been completed in Boston and West Germany. These clinical trials are confirming what Gurewich and his research team found during six years of laboratory and animal tests.

"Administered intravenously, pro-urokinase is exceptionally targeted in its actions and no side effect such as bleeding have been encountered in the more than 70 patients treated to-date," he said.

The Hawkswood Estate at Point Shore:

Incomparable Elegance
At An Understated Price

We have something splendid here.

A private and very special place.

A haven on a ten-acre penninsula overlooking one of New England's great rivers and 450 protected acres where eagles, heron and osprey come to nest.

Most emphatically, these dwellings are not the typical "condo," the smallish place one settles for when his "real" home becomes too much of a bother. No, these are 2,500 to 3,500 square foot units— elegant, spacious, secure and private.

Very, very private.

The Estate contains only 18 homes, all on the waterfront.

The final three units are now available. We believe the quality of the construction, amenities and materials— even to the smallest details— cannot be approached anywhere on the North Shore at this price.

The interiors are exquisitely appointed: Italian marble in the foyer and bath; a grand turning staircase leading to the second floor: Jennaire, Amana, Beckermann, and Grohe in the kitchen.

Garages for your cars and a dock for your boats. Professionally maintained grounds. Services of an interior designer, at no charge, for help in the completion of the decor.

And so on.

You may look upon Hawkswood as a vacation home that you're fortunate enough to live in year round.

Or as one of the last remaining gracious havens within the North Shore, yet only minutes from downtown Newburyport.

Or as an attractive alternative to paying up to twice as much for not as much in one of the better parts of, say, Boston.

At any rate, if you're prepared to invest between $385,000 and $465,000 to fulfill a slightly immodest dream, we would be happy to arrange a private showing of our furnished model unit.

The sales office is open Wednesday through Friday from 4 to 7 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.; or by appointment. For additional information call (617) 975-5555.

GETTING BETTER

During the early 1980's, second mortgages were almost a necessity in selling a home. That was when money was tight, interest rates high and seller-financing was almost a MUST. Fortunately things have changed for the better. Today, the mortgage market has stabilized, resulting in adequate supplies of money at affordable interest rates.

Does this mean that today's seller should forget about the second mortgage? Not in all circumstances. If you expect to receive a lot more money than you'll need to purchase your new home, a second mortgage can be an excellent financial move. It can provide you with a secure investment yielding a return higher than most stock, bond, municipal fund or money market investments can match. In addition, the offer of seller financing may result in your receiving a higher price from a buyer who would prefer to make a smaller down payment.

The nicest part about it is that today, the decision is an option rather than a mandate.

Schruender Real Estate

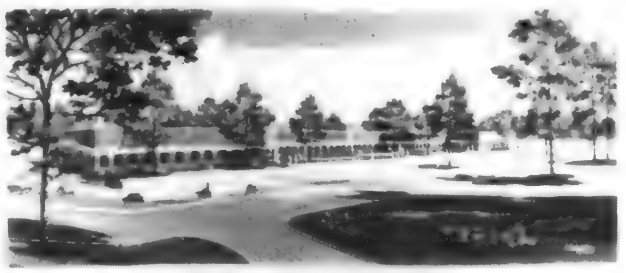

BUYER'S REMORSE

Your Realtor calls with the great news! Your offer has just been accepted. Congratulations! Your euphoria is short lived, however, as nagging doubts escalate into gripping fear. You work yourself into a frenzy - "What have I just done, and how can I undo it?"

The amount of the mortgage suddenly sounds staggering, and this enormous debt will hang over your head for thirty years! You add up the estimated closing costs and shudder, wondering if your family will have to adapt to a diet of soybeans and rice to pay for the place. Then you convince yourself that the roof will blow off and the house will cave in as soon as the deeds are signed and sealed and you own it. If this sounds familiar, it's because it is a completely normal phenomenon. It even has a name - "Buyer's Remorse." It's virtually always temporary, and if you have a bad attack, you should call your Realtor right away. We understand the home-buying jitters and we've helped many grateful customers cope with them.

The professionals at Realty USA / Schruender Real Estate, can help you through each step of the home buying or selling process. Please call us at 685-5000 or drop by our office at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

TV Crew Comes Up Short As Coleman Targets Testing

By Karen L. Day

Donald T. Coleman, 91 High St., brought a reporter and camera crew from WNEV-TV's New England News Exchange to the School Committee meeting Tuesday evening, but no footage was shot.

Coleman expressed anger at the results of the Exchange's recent testing of high school students in several communities. Andover ranked lower than Salem, N.H., said Coleman.

He then asked if any action had been taken on his request for an investigation into his allegations against the schools' administration, which included nepotism. He requested that the investigation hone in specifically on the policies of Superintendent Kenneth Seifert.

"Since Seifert has taken over, this school system has gone downhill....I am ashamed of the Andover school system," Coleman commented.

Committee chairman Michael Giammusso commented that, at the time of the request, it was explained that there were certain grievance procedures that could be followed by any employee or applicant for a position if they felt they had been treated unfairly.

Coleman again requested that the committee investigate, but Giammusso firmly stated that "none of my colleagues has presented a motion to investigate," and that unless one did, there would be no such action. Giammusso then asked the other committee members if they wanted to present a motion for such an investigation and all answered that they did not.

Coleman responded by stating that he is considering running for the seat on the committee which will be open at the end of Giammusso's term, and that if he is elected, "Things on this committee are going to change."

Coleman then walked out of the meeting, leaving the reporter and camera crew from the News Exchange wondering what they had been there to cover.

Keeping with the subject matter of testing, a Grade 3 Assessment was then presented the committee, with 95 percent of the students believing that teachers expect them to do well on a test.

Terry Murphy, an English teacher, commented that the assessment was made through analysis of questions answered by students who were recently tested.

The research shows, she said, that it is very important that teachers and parents work together in the educational process and that children who read at least half and hour a day at home, discuss the readings with parents, and watch less than two hours of television the day before a test scored overall 85 points higher than other students.

Overall, 56 percent of the students like going to school, 76 percent disgnated science as a favorite subject and 70 percent also named math as a favorite.

Only 51 percent of the students read aloud to parents while 53 percent discuss readings with parents. The figure fell over drastically when stduents were asked if they read at least a half-hour per day at home—only 27 percent do.

Forty percent did not read at all the day before a test. Fourteen percent watch five or more hours of television the day before a test, but 51 percent watch less that two hours of television the day before and exam.

Committeeman Robb expressed concern that only a little more than half of the students like going to school. He added that it may be helpful to pinpoint the differences between the Sanborn School, which had 73 percent of its students liking school, and the lower-rated schools. This, he said, did not mean that the other schools were bad or that employees of them were not doing their jobs.

In other business, the committee acted on a number of personnel recommendations. All but one of them were voted unanimously by the committee.

Debra Jean Nichols, Special Needs/Bancroft, will be on a child-bearing leave from March 16, through the remainder of the current school year. Priscilla A. Barney, system school pyschologist, will have her work week reduced for medical reasons.

Joan F. Zenofsky, a West Junior High English teacher, was given a change in status to Bachelor's Step 4, and Mary D. Dustin was named a permanent noon hour supervisor at South School.

Barbara Bunn of Bancroft School was named to the extra-curricular position of Elementary Coordinator—Understanding the Handicapped.
